

Mrs Usman

Teacher of Chemistry

Welcome to Crossley Heath!

My name is Mrs Usman and I started teaching Chemistry at Crossley in January 2024. So far my experience here has been brilliant and I've really enjoyed coming to such a welcoming environment every day.

My role as a form tutor will be to support your transition to high school and guide you towards success. There will be lots of questions, new routines and settling activities we will work through together. The changes can be overwhelming and I will always be here to listen and help you with it all.

I am really looking forward to creating some unforgettable memories!

About Me!

I have a degree in Biochemistry and have worked for the National Blood Service, an asbestos laboratory and a number of different schools in West Yorkshire.

I have three children and a foster child. Two of my children are at university and my younger daughter is doing her GCSE's at Crossley Heath. My foster child is in year 8 and studies at Brighouse High School. Most importantly, I have a cat called Symba who is adorable.

“Don't be afraid of change because its leading you to a new beginning.” – Joyce Meyers

Respect ~ Responsibility ~ Self-Belief ~ Purpose ~ Challenge ~ Aspiration